Georgie is responsible for the development of Radcliffe Chambers' client, marketing and communications strategy across all of our practice areas. She works closely with our chief executive and senior clerks to develop our relationships and build our brand.

She welcomes the opportunity to get to know our clients, to learn about the challenges and opportunities they face, and to hear about their experiences of working with us. She plays a key role in our client listening programme, and represents us at conferences, events and client meetings.

Georgie joined Radcliffe Chambers in 2017. She has previously worked in business development and marketing at a magic circle law firm and a leading litigation boutique. She was shortlisted for the 2021 Citywealth Powerwomen awards.
