Isabel leads the business development and marketing strategy of Radcliffe Chambers. She works in conjunction with our Chief Executive to ensure the continued success of the chambers.

Working closely with the senior clerks and senior managers she is key to driving the continuous improvement of client service, developing the barristers' practices and enhancing chambers' profile and collective brand identity.

Isabel joined Radcliffe Chambers in 2022. She was previously the business development and marketing director at a mixed disciplinary practice and prior to that ran a team of business development and marketing professionals at a top 100 law firm.

Before becoming a business development and marketing professional, Isabel was an associate solicitor in a regional firm specialising in contentious probate.
