Lee began his clerking career in 2002 and joined Radcliffe Chambers in 2015 as a Practice Manager, alongside a team of barristers from 11 Stone Buildings.

When Lee joined over 11 years ago, his focus was on building the commercial, restructuring and insolvency team, working closely with barristers on the management and development of their practices.

Lee was promoted to Deputy Head of Clerking in early 2019. In this role, he supports John Clark in leading the clerking team, developing client relationships and building Chambers' brand both domestically and internationally, including in the British Virgin Islands, Cayman Islands, Hong Kong, Jersey, Guernsey, the Isle of Man and other jurisdictions.

Alongside John, Lee plays a pivotal role in Chambers' strategy, working with Paul, Chief Executive, and Isabel, Head of Business Development and Marketing.

With nearly two and a half decades of experience in his areas of expertise, Lee is highly regarded by clients. He has been described in legal directories as "Their clerks are the best in the business. In particular, I use Deputy Head of Clerking Lee Wright who is first rate and the best clerk I have worked with." (Chambers UK Bar Guide 2027)

Lee holds a BTEC in Chambers Administration and is a member of the Institute of Barristers' Clerks.
